This 2 hour CME session, provided by St. Vincent's Medical Center ED staff, will review capnography principles, technology and clinical application for EMS field personnel.

Capnography, the monitoring of ETCO<sub>2</sub> and capnographic waveform is used in the EMS field environment for many clinical issues. This presentation will describe the various indicators for CO<sub>2</sub> monitoring and the physiology of ventilation-perfusion relationships. Describe the aspects of the normal capnogram, clinical interpretation of ETCO<sub>2</sub> values, analyzing the capnogram and appropriate clinical interventions.

Intended Audience: EMS, ALS, BLS, First Responder field personnel
